

BUSINESS FAILURES.

A Number of Large Concerns Close Their Doors.

THREE DENVER BANKS SUSPEND.

Five Other National Banks Still Doing Business, Which Has the Effect of Partially Restoring Confidence—Other Business Failures Throughout the Country.

DENVER, July 20.—The timorous feeling among depositors in the Denver banks, which has resulted in closing of a number of these institutions this week, seems at last to have reached its limit, and the people are now stopping to think, with the result that more money is now being deposited there than is being withdrawn.

The German, State and People's National banks closed their doors early yesterday morning in order to forestall the heavy demands that it was evident would be made. As soon as this action had been taken depositors in other banks seemed to take new courage, and during the day talk on the subject was much more conservative and rational. During the afternoon the five national banks that are still open for business showed no signs of any unusual excitement among their patrons. Indeed, their banking houses were quieter than on many days during ordinary times, and everybody seems to feel that the end of the unjustifiable excitement has been reached.

The German, State and People's National banks suspended payment and closed their doors yesterday morning. The German and the State banks did not open at all, posting notices just before 10 o'clock announcing the suspension. The People's bank was open for half an hour, but when the closing of the two other institutions became known, the directors thought it best to close without further delay.

Depositors in the German bank gathered in line early in the morning and the crowd grew so formidable before 10 o'clock that the officials saw it would be useless to attempt to meet all demands.

A smaller crowd gathered at the State with the same result. There were probably 30 depositors in line at the State National bank at 9:30 o'clock awaiting the time for opening the bank's doors. At that hour the following notice was posted at the main entrance to the bank: "Owing to inability to provide funds to meet the extraordinary run the directors have decided to close temporarily, but the bank is not insolvent. We have ample funds to pay everybody."

The statement was without signature. It was later emphatically endorsed by the management of the bank when seen by a United Press reporter.

The notice caused some confusion among the few depositors who had already formed in the line and it also caused a large number who had been attracted to the corner of Sixteenth and Larimer streets out of mere curiosity to scramble for a position near enough to the door to read the notice.

The posting of this notice naturally caused a flurry of excitement to run along the line of depositors who had gathered around the German National bank, and there was a noticeable closing up of those in line, each trying to get as near the door as possible.

Apparently, however, those who were waiting to withdraw their money from the German National were the smaller depositors, mostly workingmen and women who had deposited their entire savings in the bank and were naturally excited. The absence of business men from the line was a noticeable feature. Some of those who were there had arrived as early as 6 o'clock, and from that hour on until the time of opening the line continued to lengthen until at a few minutes before 10 o'clock it reached from the front door of the German bank on Larimer street around the corner and down Sixteenth street almost to Market.

Just before the hour of opening had arrived a notice was posted on the front door of the bank announcing suspension of payment. The notice was as follows:

"Owing to inability of this bank to realize immediately upon its assets, it has been decided by the board of directors to close the same."

The posting of this notice caused a general stampede for the doors, all being anxious to read the announcement, but there was no show of hostile demonstration on the part of the assembled depositors and the police officers who had been posted there to keep order had little trouble in dispersing the crowd. Despite the naturally trying condition of things the people were remarkably cool, and aside from one or two women who broke into tears when they learned that the bank would not open, there was little display of feeling.

All was comparatively quiet around the People's National bank, and it was open for a short time. When the suspension of the German and State banks was known the directors of the People's decided to close, and this notice was accordingly posted on the door:

"This bank is closed by order of the board of directors. Net assets, $1,100,000; liabilities, $310,000."

Following the suspension of the State and German National a few small depositors, who had their money in the First National, renewed the run on that institution, but it was a small affair and soon wore itself out.

At 11 o'clock the run which was started on the First National bank was completely broken, and quiet was restored. The run was caused principally by those who were near at hand, when notices declaring the suspension of the German and State National were posted. These people at once became panic-stricken, although the remarkably strong condition of the First National is a matter of common knowledge.

Around the Denver National, Colorado National, American National and City National all was quiet. There were very few calls for money, and a few of those who had withdrawn their money from the suspended banks were depositing in the banks that remained open.

Among the officers of the banks which were open for business the expression was unanimous that the hurry was at an end, and that the people would come to see their folly of their actions in forcing a suspension of the banking institutions by all withdrawing their deposits at once and taking from circulation all the money that would ordinarily flow through the regular channels and help in sustaining the business public and the banks.

The suspended banks all had much more than enough money to be considered a perfectly safe guaranty in ordinary circumstances, and with business at its normal condition would have laughed at the idea of a run.

Cashier Charles M. Clinton of the German National stated that during the past three months over $1,000,000 in deposits had been withdrawn, and the continual drain, together with the run yesterday, had placed the bank in such a condition that a temporary suspension was an absolute necessity.

"I can say this much, however," continued Mr. Clinton, "the depositors will all get their money in time. Our securities are first class and largely in excess of our liabilities."

The State National was unable to give out a detailed statement. The withdrawal of deposits has been heavy for several months, culminating in a run which forced a temporary suspension of payment. The statement of the bank published in Monday's papers showed deposits to the amount of $775,071.68 with currency, checks, clearing-house exchange, bank bills, specie and other available cash items amounting to $115,000.23 with which to meet demands. Other assets, large in value but not immediately convertible into cash, will protect the depositors from loss.

A tour of the banks just before their closing hour showed that all excitement had died away and there was not the least semblance of a "run." The officers of all the banks stated that they were taking in more money than they were paying out.

"I do not think I will have to place a bank in Denver in the hands of a receiver," said Frank Adams, the bank examiner for Colorado. Mr. Adams further said that he believed the suspended banks will all resume business in a short time. He has the clerks at all of the banks engaged in making out the reports which will be sent to the comptroller as soon as they can be gotten ready. Mr. Adams seems to have the utmost confidence in the belief that the banks will reopen again in a few days and that no losses will follow to depositors.

The morning train from Omaha brought in $50,000 in cash for the Denver National bank. Another bank received two iron safes full of money from the east by express.

It was reported in commercial circles that the Bank of Sterling, at Sterling, Colo., had suspended. M. H. Smith is the principal owner.

Fred H. Hanchette of the Capitol bank and Stephens, Hanchette & Company of Curtis street assigned at 4:30 p. m., to William J. Robinson. The bank was owned by Stephens, Hanchette & Company, and have about 300 depositors who have small claims.

The North Denver bank closed its doors late in the afternoon. There was no great run, but the bank had been unable to realize upon its securities and was short of funds. The depositors have been assured that they will be paid 100 cents on the dollar. W. H. Yankee is vice president and S. S. Kennedy president.

The Tucker Shirt and Furnishing company, doing business on Sixteenth street, assigned to Charles Burpie. The assets are placed at $35,000 and the liabilities amount to $18,000.

The Hallack-Sayre-Newton Lumber company has assigned to Frederick F. Sayre. No schedule given. F. H. Sayre, the assignee, said that the assignment was the result of the closing of the State National bank and was necessary simply to gain time during the present excitement. The firm is one of the most extensive in the city.

The Blake Lumber company assigned to Emmet B. Annis. No schedule filed. This company was slightly connected in a business way with the Hallack-Sayre-Newton company.

The Palace drugstore, corner Sixteenth and Curtis streets, made an assignment to F. F. Sayre of the Hallack-Sayre-Newton Lumber company. The assignment being due to the failure of this company.

Curtis, assigned to F. J. White, assets, $5,201.28; liabilities, $4,181.95.

The Denver, Lakewood and Golden Railroad company has been sued by the General Electric company for $5,750.75 and a writ of attachment was issued out of the district court.

A Chicago Failure.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Judge Grosscup appointed Edgar Whitehead receiver of the firm of Dickinson Brothers & King. The firm deals in Portland cement and building material, and has an extensive trade. The order of court was made on the filing of a bill by stockholders in the concern who are resident in Brooklyn. The firm was formed in 1890 with a paid-up capital of $260,000.

Complainants in their bill say that the firm has property valued at $260,000 in excess of its liabilities. The pressure of the time is said to have made the business unprofitable and complainants assert that the business should be wound up. In asking for a receiver they say that the assets can be administered so that all creditors will be fully paid and a substantial balance left for distribution among the partners.

At Greeley, Colo.

GREELEY, July 20.—The Union bank closed its doors at 1 p. m. and a half hour later the Greeley National pulled down its blinds and turned the key in its door. The Union's statement says that owing to the suspension of certain Denver national banks which had on deposit several thousand dollars of its money and the fact that a steady withdrawal of deposits, about $80,000 the past 60 days, they were compelled to suspend business.

They say their liabilities are about $100,000, with assets and paid-up capital at $300,000. As soon as the fact of the suspension of the banks became known a steady run was made on the First National, but it continued to honor all checks and drafts, and even after the regular closing hour cashed two checks presented.

Loveland Bank Closed.

LOVELAND, Colo., July 20.—The following notice was posted upon the door of the Bank of Loveland just before noon, signed by C. L. Smith, cashier:

"Owing to the closing of our Denver correspondents we have decided to close our doors temporarily. Our assets are largely in excess of our liabilities. Every depositor will be paid in full."

The principal correspondent of this bank in Denver was the German National.

At Aspen, Colo.

ASPEN, July 20.—The Wheeler Banking company, the pioneer bank of the city, closed its doors at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A statement of its affairs can not be learned. A notice on the door reads: "This bank has closed, and is in the hands of Benjamin Ferris."

A run was made on the First National, and the greatest excitement prevailed. One thousand people were in line when the bank closed for the day.

Charges Defrauded.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Several petitions of various creditors of Hermann Schaffner & Company, the insolvent bankers, were filed in the county court, in which charges of fraud were made against the bankers. The petitioners claimed that the bank received deposits on the day preceding its failure, when it was known that the institution was insolvent and could not meet its obligations.

Dry Goods House Assigns.

DENVER, July 20.—The Flanders dry goods house, one of the largest in the city, has made an assignment. No schedule of assets and liabilities has been made. The assignment was precipitated by an attachment of $20,000 levied on the stock by W. H. Bradley. The company has been doing a good business and carried a stock valued at $100,000 to $150,000.

An Attachment Sold.

ASPEN, Colo., July 20.—The stock of dry goods of Shilling & Company, who were recently closed by attachments, was sold at sheriff sale at 10 o'clock to the Aspen National bank for $12,580. The attachments amounted to upward of $50,000.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 20.—May Brothers, nurserymen, doing business in Rochester and St. Paul, are in trouble. Judgments against the firm aggregating $50,000 were taken by the Union bank and executions levied thereon.

At Hutchinson, Kan.

HUTCHINSON, July 20.—Owing to the financial stringency the Hutchinson National bank suspended this morning. Asset $251,000; liabilities $231,000. It is the first bank failure in the history of the city. Depositors will be paid in full.

No Assets Given.

DENVER, July 20.—The Tucker Men's Furnishing company at Sixteenth and Arapahoe streets has made an assignment. Liabilities $8,000, mostly in the east. Assets not given.

Grocery Firm Assigns.

CREETEE, Colo., July 20.—The C. E. Ewry Grocery company has made an assignment. The move was precipitated by the failure of the Denver banks. Assets, $22,000; liabilities, $9,000.

Senator Teller Interviewed.

DENVER, July 20.—Senator Teller, in an interview here, said: "I do not believe in taking a gloomy view of the situation. Matters in the east are on the mend, and it is possible Mr. Cleveland's object lesson will fail of its purpose when congress meets. The Sherman law will not be repealed unless a more favorable substitute is granted by congress. John Sherman says the present law was enacted in order to prevent the passage of a free coinage bill. Senator Sherman knows that it would have been impossible for any free coinage legislation to have been accomplished at that time, because President Harrison was pledged to veto any kind of free coinage bill." Senator Teller leaves for Washington Aug. 1.

BOUNTY PLAN ADOPTED.

Money Heretofore Expended in Strikes Will Be Used in Other Ways.

MARION, Ind., July 20.—The national convention of the American Flint Glass Workers' union adopted the bounty plan of fighting nonunionism. Its exact form will be outlined later on by the national executive officers. The bounty plan was recommended by the national officers as less expensive than a strike, and the money which has heretofore gone to support strikes will now be used in making up the difference to men employed in nonunion factories between union and nonunion wages.

The bounty plan is practiced successfully by the window glass workers, and it is said to have exterminated nonunionism. The prescription was committee reported this morning, recommending no change in the wage scale. The press war scale was continued unchanged, notwithstanding a committee recommended an advance, the convention becoming convinced that the manufacturers would not agree to it. The manufacturers also demand a 10 per cent reduction in prescription wage. The convention will continue in session two days longer.

Burial of the Late Father Walsh.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 20.—The remains of Father Walsh, president of Notre Dame university, were conveyed to the Church of the Sacred Heart from the parlor of the university, where the body had lain in state since Monday, where it was visited by hundreds of people. Pontifical high mass was celebrated at 10 a. m. The Right Rev. Bishop Rademacher celebrated. The sermon was preached by Bishop J. L. Spaulding of Peoria, Ill., a great friend of the deceased. The front of the university building and the interior of the church was heavily draped. Interment was had in the community cemetery, near the church. There was a large attendance of prelates, with friends from far and near.

A Sweet Act of Charity.

GREENCASTLE, Ind., July 20.—The death of "Aunt Sallie" Bradley, a well known resident of this city, recalls a noble act of charity on the part of the College avenue Methodist Episcopal church, of which she was a member. The deceased was in her 89th year, had never married, and being an invalid in destitute circumstances during the latter part of her life. She was maintained by the church until death came to her relief. Her funeral was largely attended last evening from the residence of Miss Gilwick, where she had been making her home.

For three years he was pastor of Calvary Presbyterian church, Buffalo, and for 10 years president of the Mount Allison Female seminary, Sackville, N. B. In recent years he has had charge of several churches in Illinois and Minnesota, and four years ago was chosen chaplain of the Minnesota senate.

An Objectionable Dam.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., July 20.—The dam being built by the Canadians in the St. Lawrence river opposite Frazier's Landing is causing the overflow of thousands of acres of crops on the American side of the river. The farmers for miles around are becoming desperate. They have appealed to the state department at Washington, but as yet no action has been taken in the matter. The farmers say they will resort to force unless the government comes to their assistance.

Investigating the Cheese Poisoning.

COLUMBUS, O., July 20.—State Dairy and Food Commissioner McNeil has received complaints concerning the cheese poisoning in different parts of the state. He has returned from Mansfield where the most serious cases occurred. The commissioner was accompanied by an expert cheese manufacturer who expressed the opinion that the poisoning was due to the use of tainted or spoiled milk from sick cows. Sample of the cheese will be analyzed.

Lost Track of His Family.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., July 20.—I. A. Cane of San Jacinto is here looking for his mother and sisters, a small fortune having been left to them by the father of his mother, James Diels. PENSION FRAUDS.

New Mexico Fairly Overrun With Them.

A SYSTEMATIC EXAMINATION.

These Are Supplemented by the Rankst Sort of Land Swindles Against the Government and Individuals—Hundreds of Cases of Forged Documents.

SANTA FE, N. M., July 20.—Agents of the pension bureau at Washington are now engaged in a systematic examination of the pension rolls of the territory for the purpose of weeding out the frauds which are alleged to exist. There are 1,800 cases to be disposed of. The muster rolls of the regiments raised here during the rebellion were stolen soon after the war and with the records in a disorderly shape the opportunity for the commission of frauds has been great. But not only in the pension department have frauds against the government been perpetrated in this territory in the past. The whole territory is filled with fraud and thousands of dollars have been obtained illegally from the government. To ferret out these rascally deeds would require the time of the whole secret service for a number of years.

The most fruitful time for the commission of frauds against the government was during the four or five years immediately following the war. During that time thousands of claims against the government were brought and settlement made, but the money went to people not entitled to it. By the law passed in 1851 all survivors of the Mexican war living in New Mexico became entitled to a gift of 160 acres of land. Few of the survivors cared to accept the generosity of the government or knew about the measure. But after the railroads had entered the state and the lands along the rivers became of some value, then these claims under the act began to multiply rapidly. As the territory was settled there arrived a number of lawyers, who set to work to drum up business.

The prosecuting of claims against the government seemed to offer a source of much revenue, and a number of attorneys engaged in the work. They hunted out the old settlers who were living quiet lives among the hills and along the streams in blissful ignorance that the government owed them anything. The attorneys had no difficulty in making a bargain with the rightful claimants, and accordingly the proper documents were filed. It was then learned that in hundreds of cases government lands had been granted in the names of these claimants years ago.

This the claimants denied; they had not known until recently that such a law for their benefit had been passed. A special agent who came down here this spring and made a general survey, learned for the first time of the enormous number of cases where fraud had been perpetrated during the past.

Applications for land under the Mexican war survivors act had been forged and affidavits had been sworn out before corrupt notaries. When the department at Washington passed favorably upon them it was easy to present to the local government agent an order of transfer, wherein the beneficiary had seemed to have transferred his rights for a consideration. And the entire system of fraud had not been discovered until the actual survivors had been induced of late years to make their applications.

After the civil war came the bounty and back pay acts, which afforded further opportunities for rascality. Before the war had closed fairly land warrants and soldiers' discharges were bought by the hundreds. The parties in possession of the documents then forged applications for back pay and bounty.

All treasury drafts in payment of the claims that were allowed were sent to the government disbursing agent for delivery to the proper persons. These persons, however, were living in total ignorance of their rights and the schemers had no difficulty in presenting properly sworn documents ordering the payment of the warrants to them. The last act of the conspiracy was to endorse the warrants and collect the money, and this was readily done.

It is supposed that the same general plan has been adopted in the past to obtain pensions, and the pension commissioner now at work may be able to ferret out some of the leaders in these systematic, fraudulent practices against the government.

POLYGAMISTS TO VOTE.

Utah Commission Carries Out President Harrison's Ideas.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 20.—A question having arisen on the right of polygamists, in whose favor President Harrison issued a proclamation of amnesty, to vote, the Utah commission referred the matter to the department at Washington. The attorney general replied that he was not a law adviser for the commission and declined to express any opinion.

The commission has adopted resolutions saying the right to vote did not necessarily follow upon amnesty, but it would be in the same spirit of said proclamation to extend the privilege. They, therefore, advise the registration officers to register polygamists, and as such advice is equivalent to a command this course will be followed and polygamists generally will vote in Utah for the first time in 12 years.

SUPERINTENDENT BLATTERMAN is to be congratulated on securing Professor A. L. Peterman to conduct the approaching institute. Professor Peterman has been prominently identified for years with the cause of education in Kentucky, having served as a member of the State Board of Education during a former administration. He has also served in the State Senate, and is at present engaged in publishing an educational journal in connection with his institute work. He has engagements for several weeks work with institutes in West Virginia this summer.

THE Public Ledger's snipe yesterday had no more resemblance to that long-legged and long-billed bird than a crow has to a shaggy rooster. And whoever saw a snipe in a tree? We doubt whether the editor of the Ledger would know a snipe if he should run across one.—EVENING BULLETIN.

Brother, if you will furnish us a photo of yourself we will have a cut made which we are sure would be as correct a representation of the genuine snipe as could be procured.—Public Ledger.

Thanks. The snipe is a handsome bird, if he does have long legs and a long bill, and he's about as sharp as they make 'em. It always takes a crack shot to bring him down. He's never caught napping.

But speaking of birds and such things, why is the postmaster-editor of the Public Ledger like a parrot?

GOOD ADVICE.

Comptroller Eckels Gives a Sensible Talk on the Financial Outlook.

Comptroller Eckels, of the U. S. Treasury, gave some excellent advice in a talk in New York one evening this week. He said:

"The condition which confronts the American people is one that deserves the thoughtful attention of every citizen who has at heart the interest of the country. It is not a time of panic, because we have passed the period in our history when a panic is a possibility; but it is one of a slow liquidation, the result of undue speculation and unwise financial legislation. Nothing is to be gained by taking on a freight that is unwarranted by either the immediate past or the immediate future. What the American people ought to do in the midst of the failures that have occurred is not to give way to uncalculated alarm, but to study the character of the institutions which have failed; the causes which have produced them and the localities in which they have occurred.

"After such a study let them view the solvent institutions everywhere about them, and the conclusion that must irresistibly follow is that the legitimate life of the country is not threatened, but instead will come out of the present turmoil the stronger for having passed through it. In conservative business centers failures have been few, either in banking or other lines. Bad banking at any and all times is dangerous, and must inevitably bring disaster upon those who engage in it. The present stringency has simply hastened the closing of some banks because they were inherently weak. Others have closed as a resultant effect of having kept alive the operations of speculators in the extreme West and in portions of the South. The art has not been discovered of making something out of nothing, and the financier who stakes his all upon an unbuilt city reaching out into the waste places of the earth must bring about the ruin of his own and kindred institutions which have trusted in him and pinned their faith to assets yet unborn.

"Disasters have fallen upon the speculative institutions in boom cities of the States of Washington, California, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri, which have injured solvent ones, but the States of New England, the Eastern and Middle States and those of the North-west, not less than of the South have, thus far, escaped, and will because the foundation upon which they are built is of rock and not of sand. Such a review as that which I have indicated can not but have the effect of quieting the fears of the timid and encouraging those who have thus far maintained an unswerving faith in the speedy coming of better times. It ought to check those who invite disaster by withdrawing from solvent institutions the money which the depositor can not possibly use. The people are hoping and asking much from the banks of the country. In turn, the banks have the right of considerate treatment from the people. Let those who have so long transacted business with the banking institutions have sufficient confidence in them to know and feel that if in years past they have proved safe that they are likely so to do in the present emergency. Runs on banks but destroy the interest which otherwise would be protected, and those who indulge in them cause to come about the thing which they wish to avert."

KENTUCKY CROPS.

Weekly Report of the State Weather Service—The General Outlook Good.

Following is the weather and crop bulletin of the Kentucky weather service for the week ending June 7th: In a general way the weather conditions of the past week were quite similar to those of the preceding one. The same excess of sunshine and temperature was repeated, but there was probably a slightly greater amount of precipitation, though the average for the State is still much below the normal. During the last few days of the week local thunder storms did much to relieve the prevailing drouth, but it appears that but a comparatively small portion of the State was covered by them, and even within the limits of the same county in a number of cases, some sections received abundant showers, while other parts report the drouth still unbroken. Generally speaking, however, there is not so much complaint made of absence of rainfall as was anticipated.

The weather conditions were most favorable for the threshing of wheat and the cultivation of corn, which is now about completed. The wheat yield is turning out very nearly as was predicted it would some time since. It does not appear to be so good in the blue grass and adjoining counties, as in most other sections of the State, but it is nowhere far below the average condition. Farmers are generally showing a disposition to hold it for better prices, so that but little has as yet been placed upon the market. Oats are being harvested and nearly all reports agree as to the fine character of the crop. In some few sections it has been blown down, and it is expected that there will be considerable loss in cutting such portions of it.

The hay crop is about saved and almost perfect weather favored the cutting and drying of it. It is the best crop in many years.

Reports relative to the condition of corn are of a generally favorable character, though there is considerable complaint of its small size and also of injury from drouth, particularly to that planted upon elevated ground. It has, however, been splendidly cultivated, and with good rains the prospect for it could not be better.

Early tobacco is doing well, but even more complaints are made this week than last, that the late crop is wilting, particularly that portion of it which was last planted. It needs rain very badly and without it will soon be seriously damaged. Gardens are also showing the effects of the drouth, and in some sections have been badly injured. Potatoes are fine in all sections of the State, and the prospects are that the late crop will be enormous and of fine quality.

Reports of fruit are somewhat conflicting, but all signs point to the shortage indicated in previous reports, particularly of late varieties.

On the streets of Hanging Rock she fainted, and was taken care of by kind-hearted people until removed to the infirmary. She was totally oblivious to her surroundings, and thought when taken to the infirmary she was being taken to prison. She finally recovered enough to say she left her son's home to get a package of tobacco and got lost.

THE United States Supreme Court has just decided that the tomato is a vegetable—not a fruit. Several years ago some tomatoes were imported in New York City, and the Collector of the port classified them as vegetables and collected duty accordingly. The importers disputed the point, claiming that they were fruit and accordingly on the free list. In spite of the law's delays, the case has just been declared in favor of the Collector, and henceforth the tomato is to be classed with cabbages and potatoes, instead of with apples and peaches.

"THE WORKMAN HORSE."

A Robertson County Animal, With no Pedigree, But a Wonderful Runner.

The "Workman horse," of Robertson County, has been at Parker & Worthington's stable this week. This horse is said to be wonderfully fleet-footed, all of which some Millersburg and Paris boys found to be true on July 4, to their sorrow.

The story is that they brought down one of Ireland's crack runners, and entered him in the races at Mt. Olivet on the 4th, feigning ignorance as to his running qualities. They had heard of the Workman horse, and knew the Robertson County crowd would put up all their money on their favorite.

The Bourbon boys never once imagined that the trained racer could be beaten by the Robertson County scrub, so they put up every cent they had.

The Mt. Olivet crowd were on to the scheme, however. They had implicit faith in their horse, if he was a scrub. The Bourbon bang-tail was permitted to win the first dash, and then the Mt. Olivet boys bet every cent they could rake and scrape on their favorite, and even put the horse up against $200 of Paris money.

In the succeeding heats the Ireland racer never got anywhere near the Robertson County scrub, and the Bourbon boys had to borrow money to get home.

The Workman horse has no pedigree, but he's a runner all the same. He is "built that way."

THE marriage of Mr. F. B. Ranson, of this city, and Miss Mary Spillman, of Garrard County, is announced to take place August 2nd, at 4 o'clock p. m., at Harmony Presbyterian Church, Garrard County. Mr. and Mrs. Ranson will be at home to their friends after August 7th.

THE long delayed financial report of the city of Lexington appeared yesterday, this being the first financial statement of the city for four years. It shows receipts for the past year of $196,186; expenditures, $165,351. The total indebtedness amounts to $798,958, of which $586,000 is in funding bonds, while the remaining $212,958 is in brick street bonds. The assets are $552,776, leaving an excess of assets over liabilities of $53,818.

SAYS the Cincinnati Enquirer: "E. Octavius Mack, an attorney from Kentucky, appeared before Squire Tyrrell Tuesday with A. Sansberry Cluff, and secured a power of attorney to transact business in an important matter. In 1800 there lived in Virginia a man named Sainuel Gest. He owned sixty square miles of land. After the war of 1812 he freed his 600 slaves and went back to England, where he died in 1818, leaving a large estate to his slaves. It is now worth $80,000,000, and Cluff's father was one of the heirs. Mack has 105 powers of attorney, and is going to England to get part of the money."

A REMARKABLE death-bed scene was enacted at Lexington Monday night, when Mrs. Margaret Totten died at the advanced age of eighty-one. Twenty-one years ago the dead woman was thrown from a buggy and so badly injured in her spine that she had been a cripple, unable to move from her chair, and to make the case more pitiable was deprived of her power of speech. Since 1872 Mrs. Totten had not uttered a word. About two minutes before death the woman was infused with new life in her limbs, and raising herself on her elbows she suddenly spoke, exclaiming: "I am dying; good-by." Mrs. Totten was a noted beauty in her day.

SAYS the Millersburg correspondent of the Bourbon News: "On the first of July, during a thunder storm, lightning demolished a tree on the east side of Mr. Jeff Vinmont's residence. A week later, on the 8th instant, a tree in the yard on the west side was shivered into tooth picks by a vivid flash, and again on Saturday, the 15th—but a fortnight from the first stroke—the fiery fluid descended for the third time, and set on fire another of the large trees which spread a grateful shade around Mr. Vinmont's home. The coincidence is remarkable, to say the least. A crowd is being made up to go out and watch the elements next Saturday, from a safe distance."

HOWLING HEATHENS.

Temperance Workers Can Find a Field in the Plaisance.

CHICAGO, July 20.—There is likely to be considerable trouble among the savage and Oriental tribes on the Midway Plaisance before the close of the fair as the result of their sudden and inordinate love for liquor. Already it has been found necessary to send several of the savages back home because of their inclination to run amuck after loading themselves up with intoxicants.

The big colony of savage Dahomeans, who never knew the taste of beer until they arrived in Chicago, have developed a capacity for the amber fluid equal to that of the German workers in a brewery.

Lately it has been found necessary to put two or three cases of beer in sight on the platform before they commenced their dances and other performances, and as soon as the program is ended the semi-naked heathens make a dash for the supplies and, dexterously forcing in the corks, insert the neck of the bottle between their teeth and keep it there until the contents are entirely exhausted.

A repetition of this program at frequent intervals during the day puts them into an hilarious mood by dusk, and strict precautions have been found necessary to keep them from breaking away from the village and raising hell Columbia about the plaisance.

Many of the Moors and others have also taken a fancy to whiskey and other strong drinks, and the viler the quality the more they like it and the greater the amount they can get away with. Fears are expressed that these conditions will some day lead to a general emeute on the thoroughfare.

POSTPONED.

The Confederate Veteran Reunion Will Wait Until September.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 20.—This was the day originally appointed for the opening of the great Confederate Veterans' reunion, and at which 30,000 veterans who wore the gray were expected from all over the south. For months the citizens had been engaged in elaborate preparations for the reception of their guests, but in pursuance of a general order issued by instruction of Commander General Gordon the affair has been postponed until September next in response to a general request based upon the financial situation as well as on the fact that it is harvest time in many sections of the south. Meanwhile preparations for the event will continue, and the latest addition to the program is a tableau of the states, portraying some of the most important events of the war. Each southern state is to be represented by its most beautiful unmarried woman.

A UNIQUE JUSTICE.

He Has a Man Arrested For Differing With Him on Biblical Matters.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 20.—Justice Lilly of Lauckport who issued warrants for the arrest of the national guardsmen for practicing on their rifle range, and who has distinguished himself several times since his election by his peculiar ideas of his power, capped the climax Sunday night by ordering the arrest of Arthur Cunningham because he differed with him in scriptural interpretations at a prayer meeting. At the trial Lilly claimed that he was a conservator of the peace, that Cunningham's differing with him was a breach of the peace, inasmuch as he disturbed public worship by creating a dissension. Cunningham was dismissed, the judge rebuking Lilly severely.

The Telephotos Are the Latest.

BUFFALO, July 20.—A successful test of Boughton's telephotos was conducted here. The dots and dashes of bright light, produced by electric incandescent lights, could be distinctly seen by the witnesses on Bird Island pier, about a mile away, and a letter containing 90 words was sent in 15 minutes. It is claimed that the signals were read at Point Abino, 10 miles away. The telephotos will be exhibited before the army and navy boards of the Old World.

Silver Purchases.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Four hundred and fifty-four ounces of silver were offered for sale to the treasury department yesterday at prices ranging from $0.7150 to 73 cents. Seventy-five thousand ounces were purchased at $0.7150, the balance being declined, and the same rendered. This makes the total purchases of silver for the month thus far 1,028,000 ounces.

Played With Matches.

BUENOS AIRES, O., July 20.—Frankie Chrisman, aged 3 years and six months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Chrisman, was so horribly burned that he only lived a few hours. Mrs. Chrisman had lain down for a nap, when Frankie and an elder brother, aged about 6, got hold of a matchbox and went out behind the coalshed to have some sport. They played with the matches with the usual results.

The Heavenly Recruits.

ELWOOD, Ind., July 20.—The Heavenly Recruits continue to hold their exciting meetings in a tent a few miles west of this city, and trances are numerous, people lying in that condition for hours. Only a Canard.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., July 20.—It is now known that the story of the United States steamer Mohican having been fired at by the sealing poacher Alexandria and being disabled by a return fire is a canard. The story was started by correspondents of a Seattle paper who had no foundation for it.

THE GROWTH OF CYCLING!

For an evidence of the really phenomenal growth of bicycling in this country one has only to glance at the club fixtures published almost daily in the Herald. All over the country road and track races are scheduled months ahead, and thousands upon thousands of wheelmen take part in them. The fact that the use of the wheel is rapidly growing in favor with women, and that reputable physicians everywhere endorse the exercise as one of the most health-promoting for both sexes, doubtless have much to do with the sport's advancement. One thing is certain, outside of racing and baseball no pastime has taken such a hold on our health-loving people as has cycling, and for personal benefits it is superior to both of these.—New York Herald.
